Jay Hamilton-Roth - Business with Passion

The San Francisco Bay Area social dance scene wouldn't be the same without the influence of Cynthia Glinka.

Dance coach, choreographer and entertainer,

she brings expertise, skill and enthusiasm for social dance to all ages and a variety of events.

"Cynthia has undoubtedly done more than anyone to introduce a modern world-weary public to the joys of social dancing."

Cherie Oliver -- Art Deco Society

Cynthia is Founder and Creative Director of RejuveDance®, an organization that promotes social dance as a path to physical, mental and emotional health and wellness. Her various dance programs for all ages have been featured at social and corporate affairs locally and abroad and through private and group lessons.

Glinka prepares wedding couples for their "first dance." She coaches partners for dance presentations remembered as a highlight of their special day.

Her success as a pre-teen and teen instructor is unmatched and revered through her Manners in Motion® (a new spin on Cotillion) series. She takes the fear out of dancing for young adults and instills them with basic steps that will remain for a lifetime, while inspiring students and their parents to enjoy the magic of couples social dancing. The program also includes etiquette off and on the dance floor for all social occasions.

Cynthia has served as choreographer for several Hollywood films, has appeared in national television commercials, documentaries and theatrical productions.

Cynthia relocated to San Francisco from her hometown of Chicago and launched her professional career in dance as a featured member of the legendary troupe Rosie Radiator and the Pushrods, which began tap dancing through the streets of San Francisco and onto the national stage and into the Guinness Book of World Records.

Cynthia will entertain, inspire and instruct social dance.

The ultimate icebreaker - for any occasion.
